

The True Test

Tried in Barre, It Has Stood the Test.

The hardest test is the test of time, and Doan's Kidney Pills have stood it well in Barre. Kidney sufferers can hardly ask for stronger proof than the following:

Mrs. Margaret Reid, 40 Maple avenue, Barre, Vt., says: "I gave a public statement in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills in 1905, and I am glad to confirm it at this time for the benefit of all persons who suffer from kidney trouble. For more than three years I was bothered off and on by backaches, and at night I suffered so intensely that I could not sleep. During damp weather I was always worse and, although I wore plaster, I obtained only temporary relief. When Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me, I procured a box at E. A. Brown's drug store. They helped me in a short time, and I continued taking them until the pain in my back was entirely relieved. Doan's Kidney Pills benefited me in every way, and I have had little or no trouble from my kidneys since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MONTPELIER.

City Council Adopts Amendment to Govern Drivers of All Vehicles.

The regular meeting of the city council of Montpelier was held last evening and several matters of importance were considered, the most important being the adoption of an amendment to the city ordinances relating to drivers of various vehicles, which goes into effect August 6. It was learned that there was nothing in the ordinance that could compel drivers to keep on the right side of the street and past conditions seemed to prove that such an ordinance was necessary to the safety of the public.

The amendment prohibits the racing or speeding of horses, bicycles or automobiles within the city limits and orders all such vehicles kept on the right hand side of the street. City grand juror Gleason thought that the conditions on upper Barre street were such that an officer should be stationed there, as he considered it unsafe for a woman to walk along the street there unattended Saturday evening, Sunday and Sunday evening.

The matter was turned over to the police committee, with power to act. There were some demands for abatement of taxes and a meeting will be held later, when the list will be presented, to look up the matter. The remainder of the work of the council was routine business.

John W. Palmer of Moretown has been granted an increase in pension at the rate of $30 per month, beginning June 5.

Last night's electrical storm put some of the electric and telephone wires out of commission, but no other damage was done here, so far as known, though the storm was very severe.

Arrangements are nearly completed for the Vermont health officers' school which is to be held here Monday to Friday of next week, and the meetings are open to the public. They will be held in the Kellogg-Hubbard library hall.

The Woman's auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. held its annual meeting yesterday, the reports of the officers showing that the present membership of the auxiliary is 70 and that the treasury of the organization is in excellent condition. The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Mrs. Harry S. Coffin; vice-president, Mrs. F. O. Hayden; secretary, Mrs. Frank Bemis; treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Briggs.

The Colburn-Goodrich company of Swanton, organized to deal in mercantile, filed incorporation papers yesterday at the office of the secretary of state. The capital of the company is $18,000 and the incorporators, F. E. Colburn, Charles E. Goodrich, George Sanborn and E. A. Ayers, all of Swanton.

TOPSHAM.

Farm and Garden

NORTHERN GRAIN APHIS.

Michigan Authority Believes Its Bark Is Much Worse Than Its Bite.

Probably the most misleading insect on the grains if not on the farm is the common northern grain aphis. It collects during some seasons in great numbers on the heads of wheat, rye, barley, oats, sorghum and other near relatives of the grass family, sometimes fairly packing full the spaces in the heads of these plants and seeming to threaten their very existence. This gathering in great numbers usually occurs just as the grain is in the milk. In all the instances seen by the writer, R. H. Pettit of the Michigan experiment station, the threatened injury has been averted by tiny parasites, which have destroyed the plant lice and reduced the loss to a nominal one.

The northern grain aphid appears very much like other plant lice, both winged and wingless forms being found. The color is green with black markings. The illustration gives an idea of its appearance under a strong lens. Before the grain commences to ripen the parasites usually commence to destroy the lice. These parasites are black for the most part and about one-tenth of an inch in length. They move about with a quick, nervous motion. They lay their eggs in the living bodies of the lice. The grubs or larvae from the eggs feed on the body contents of the living lice, and when full grown each aphid a cocoon inside the skin of the lice in order to get out. The multiplication of the plant lice is rapid indeed, but that of the parasites is still more rapid, so that before the grain is killed the lice are for the most part destroyed. Of course this may not always occur, but so far the writer's experience with them has been that their bark is far worse than their bite.

Cultivating the Corn Crop.

The essential thing in corn cultivation is to keep the ground free from weeds and covered with a soil mulch. The results of fifty-six different tests at seventeen different agricultural experiment stations show an average increase of 42 per cent resulting from shallow cultivation as compared with deep cultivation. In moist years cultivation is of less importance than in dry years.

Agriculture in a High School.

The Stockton (Cal.) board of education proposes to introduce agriculture at the opening of the fall term of its high school and to "teach all the high school sciences from an agricultural standpoint."

Right!

The man who spends much time in his garden or orchard or field won't have to spend much time in the market when he gets ready to sell.

Lovers of Sports.

The Anglo-Saxons love sport. No matter what part of the world they are found the spirit is strong among them. Wherever the restless Anglo-Saxon dominates the love of sport is dominant. The Americans are at least the most of them—descendants of this virile race, and nowhere is the love of sport so much exhibited as in this country. Our people are patrons of horse racing, of baseball, of golf, of football, of all out of door sports as no other people. The English are great sportsmen, but not to the extent that Americans are, for the reason that the opportunities are greater here—Nashville American.

The Mexican Mosquito.

The finest fly traps are not in it with a little Mexican spider named mosquito. Natives gather from oak trees a branch covered with this spider's nests and hang it up in the house. The spiders begin on the flies by wholesale. Mosquitoes nests are very tidy, pretty and old maidish. A lot of tiny beetles make their home therein with the spiders. The beetles live on fly legs, the crumbs and scraps from the mosquito's table, and pay for their bed and board by keeping the web house perfectly clean and refined, eating everything and dropping no litter in the Mexican professional gentleman's house. Mrs. Mosquito is a very quiet, orderly lady who never wanders from her own back yard, but when a fly calls round she gets very busy with her spider knives and saws.—New York Press.
